Hares: 3: Alyson, Ellie and Ryana

Hashers 56

Hash Trash Kay

First word

Hashers observed a minute of silence before the Hash to remember Brian Davies who died last week. John paid tribute to his friend:

Brian was an avid Hasher from 1994 and was a regular Sunday morning reveller until 2009 when he was diagnosed with cancer. Despite his illness he would still join the Hash family when health allowed him to and he made his final appearance with us in May at Grand Bel Air Hash. He was one of the good guys and probably one of the last true gentlemen.

Brian's wife, Danielle, has said that those Hashers wishing to honour his memory can make a donation to Palliative Care (Mauritius) Ltd. Donations can be given to John.

Trail Les 3 Mamelles

The trail was set by virgin hares Alyson and Ellie and their friend Ryana. It was advertised as a ladies' Hash and all men were required to wear something pink. The Hares' attention to detail was supreme and the Hash started with a trail of pink flour through a sugar cane field. When the trail started to climb up towards Les 3 Mamelles and the foliage became dense the pink flour was replaced by pretty pink ribbons tied to branches. Hashers had to take care where they put their feet in the dense undergrowth so it was easy to miss a ribbon and lose the trail. All experienced Hashers know that if you lose your way on the trail you must retrace your steps to the last blob of flour or ribbon and then look very carefully for the next marker. There was a Hash Halt high up on the hillside and everyone waited for the stragglers who had struggled to find their way. From on high there were magnificent views across the sugar cane fields and down to the sea. The GM could even see his house on a faraway hillside. As Hashers neared the On-On the blobs of flour were replaced by a smiley face and a pair of boobies in pink flour. After the circle Hashers enjoyed delicious booby buns baked by Alyson.

Hash circle

Here's to the hares!

The virgin Hares were congratulated on a top class trail and enjoyed a refreshing down-down. Ryana sported a beautiful pink bra. Somebody quipped that she had stolen it from the Duchess of Cambridge and that was how she came to be sunbathing topless in France.

Here's to the pink boobies!

First timers

A convention of virgins gathered in the circle and introduced themselves as follows:

1. Ryana – younger sister of Ryan, wearing a beautiful pink bra which doubled as a convenient holder for her bottle of beer
2. Bruno from France
3. Sarah from Quatre Bornes
4. Abhi – Alyson's son
5. Nitai – Alyson's son
6. Anush – friend of Alyson's sons
7. Anuj – friend of Alyson's sons
8. Madhavi – mother of the friends of Alyson's sons
9. Sarah's mum
10. Jim's brother-in-law
11. Jim's baby son, Jason

Here's to the virgins!

Second timers

The GM was overjoyed to welcome 2 second timers to the Hash, the first since he took over as GM in July!

1. Aline – from Baie du Tombeau
2. Jim – from the USA

Announcements

1. Presentation

Leslie made a special presentation to a revered Hasher who, despite having a maths column in the Independent every Thursday, still has difficulty with numbers. At a box at the last Hash he had not been able to count the Hashers correctly. To assist him with his calculations in future, Leslie presented him with a very practical counting machine which does not rely on batteries to function, can be worn around the neck for convenience and is very easy to use – an abacus.

2. Hash Cash

The GM explained that everybody attending the Hash must pay MUR 150. This money covers the cost of drinks and other Hash expenditure including subsidising the Hash Bash and Red Dress Run. Those who had not paid did so immediately after the circle. The GM advised that repeat offenders would be named and shamed.

3. Red Dress Run

The GM reported that arrangements are being finalised and that after the circle Kay would be asking Hashers to indicate if they would be attending.

4. Hash Trash competitions

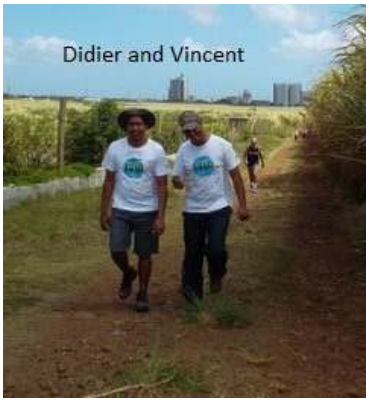
The Scribe reminded Hashers that reports on each Hash are available on the Hash website and Hash Facebook page and went on to choose the winner to the last 2 competitions.

Hash 628

The Scribe read out the captions which had been submitted for a photo of the RA fondling some invisible boobs. The caption which received the loudest response (right) won the prize. And the winner was…….Ryan.



Hash 629

Hashers had to identify 2 Hashers in a photo taken at the last Hash. The names of all those who had submitted the correct answer were put into a hat and Kees drew out the winner who was…….. Ryan.

Ryan has entered all 4 competitions so far and has won each time. What an amazing record! After collecting his prize he was asked to draw another name for the booby prize and this time the winner was …… Harry.

5. Camping Hash
   Claude announced that he was planning to organize a camping Hash early in November.

RA

After being reprimanded by Lady Russell for not wearing a Hash t-shirt at the last Hash the RA was resplendent in a pristine white Hash t-shirt in the latest design. In response to the request from les 3 mamelles to wear something pink he sported a pretty pink hard hat.

Down-downs

- Ryan – for looking like a tit in a pretty pink bra
- Didier – for not reading the Hash Trash and therefore being unaware that he was the star of the competition
  Here's to the sinners!
  NB Didier emptied his drink in Ryan's bra.
- Claude – for arriving late
- Tusia and Jacqueline – for short cutting
  Here's to the infamous!
- Bertrand – for forgetting to collect his key from the key lady after the Hash
  Here's to the non-starter!
- Brice – for having holes in his shoes through which his toes were protruding
  Here's to the worn out shoes!
- Scribe (right) – too busy talking on the Hash and led a group the wrong way
- Jacqueline – didn't put her breast foot forward, slipped and fell arse over tit
- Alison – for her response to the GM's offer of a hand on a tricky part of the trail:
  "If I get into trouble I'll grab it!" (The RA was suggesting that she would grab something other than his hand!)
  Here's to the sinners!

- Lord Russell, the webmaster, for misleading advertising on the Hash website which stated "boobies, boobies, boobies!" but there were only 2 sets on the trail
  Here's to the boobyless!
  NB The glass of beer was so large that the GM had to drink half of it.
- Jim (right) – for wearing a t-shirt boasting 1234 orgasms
  Here's to the orgasmic one!
- Henriette, Marie-Andrée, Claudia and Primrose who all wore pink when the website stipulated that only the men should wear pink.
  Here's to the pinkies who want to be men!

Fun and games

The best 5 men wearing pink were summoned into the circle and asked to sashay down an imaginary catwalk to show off their pink attire. The RA demonstrated by walking in an ostentatious yet casual manner with exaggerated movements of the hips and shoulders. The others strutted their stuff as follows:

- Ryan – an outrageously camp charge down the catwalk lifting up his pretty pink bra to reveal a lot less than the Duchess of Cambridge

- Jean-Marie – wearing a fetching fuchsia pink necklace sidled shyly into the circle like a virgin in a brothel
- Richard – wearing a pink polo shirt wiggled and giggled into the circle and with a flirtatious pout flounced back to the rest of the group
- Harry – wearing delightful girlie pink ankle socks moved majestically into the circle, twirled seductively and then politely removed his hat. Hats off to Harry!
- Didier – immaculately dressed as usual and wearing an expensive looking pink and grey belt, strutted confidently into the circle and began to perform a sultry striptease, unbuckling his belt, whipping it clear of his trousers and waving it provocatively above his head.

Asked to vote for their favourite pinkie performance the crowd cheered like crazy and the winner was …… just for a change ……Ryan! He was awarded yet another down-down which was poured into the RA's pink hard hat. Considering that Ryan had drunk enough beer for one day, the RA placed the hat on Ryan's head and gave him a beer shampoo.

The cowbell has still not been returned so Hashers breathed a sigh of relief again.
