Hash #679
17th August 2014
Trianon
Hares: Jean-Noel and Yanny

Hello Happy Hashers!

So today's Hash was located centrally, so it easy to get to from all parts of the island. It was a short-ish trail, which took us through sugar cane fields, and in and out of Trianon residential area, over the new motorway, along the old one and back again. Now, it has come to my attention (and maybe yours as well), that the number of checks has greatly reduced over the last few Hashes – we may eventually find ourselves with no checkings to do and the new movement #DontLetJohnCabrelliFinishFirst might as well cease to exist. The FRBs enjoy the challenge of trying to keep up with JC, so please future Hares, give him plenty of checks to keep him occupied as the rest of us strive to catch up with him!!! Let's keep the pack together, so be creative and come up with some ways to get the Walkers within touching distance of the Runners (*cough*fish hook*cough*). Well done to this week's Hares, nice trail!

First-timers this week:

- Isha Dookhy, from Poste de Flacq
- Graham Wood, a visiting Hasher from London, UK

Second-Timers this week:

- None (!) – GM Jim took it upon himself to represent the absentees

RA John N. handed out quite a few down-downs to the Sinners – these punishments (lemonades and girly beers) are to serve as a warning to all those who plan to commit Hashing crimes in the future:

- Claude, last to pay
- Bob, short-cutting AND ignoring the big parallel lines (he could have been a bit more subtle about it and done it when the RA was not looking)
- JC, again not being considerate enough to wait for the number of Hashers indicated in the box (to be fair it was a bunch of squiggly lines by the time I got there). Note to future Hares: there are not many runners these days, so please consider using smaller numbers in boxes!
- Mario, for knocking over the RA's beer
- The Hares, for making us all wait for the Hash directions which were posted only a few days before the run
- Silvia, representative of the Dutch population (yes, yes I know she's German, but Kees wasn't there), but I have no clue what this one was all about (something to do with Dodo nuggets) – but does it really matter?

- Harry, as we needed someone to take it upon themselves to commemorate the anniversary of the 100th Hash run (which occurred on August 15th 1941).

A very Happy Birthday to Vanusha, 11 years old!

Kay Farrow announced that her husband Steve, one of our ex-GMs, has had some serious health issues and will be undergoing an operation in the near future, so please keep him in your thoughts and prayers and we all wish him a speedy recovery and hope to see him back at the Hash soon!

Cow-Bell didn't come along to this week's Hash.

Next Hash: Bel Ombre – prepare yourself for a J&J special!

See you next time!
